Speculation Active and Prices Lower at the Opening.

Pacific Mail a Conspicuous Exception, Advancing on Rumors of the President's Endersement of the Ship Subsidy Bill-The Industrial Quarter in a Feverish Condition.

NEW YORK Dec 3.-The Stock Market opened active and generally lower today, although there were some notable exceptions to the common tendency. Pa-cific Mail was conspicuous in this respect, the stock advancing over five points in the early dealings on buying attributable to the idea that in his message to Congress, the President would take strong grounds in favor of the Shipping Subsidy bill.

On the other hand, the industrial shares were rather feverish, notably the steel stocks, on reports that the President would urge legislation looking to the placing of restrictions upon the great industrial com-

The London market for American stocks The London market for American stocks was materially depressed, and, according to the early cables, the application for an injunction against the Baltimore and Ohio dividead on the common stock, nad created a very bad effect abroad.

The railway list opened generally lower, but it soon developed aggressive strength. Notably strong features were the Southers Ballway shares common and preferred.

The local traction shares were not acthe local traction shares were not actively dealt in, and were generally weak, with Manhattan Railway conspicuous in the dealings. Aside from the views held in regard to the tenor of the President's nessage there was little that was new engaging consideration upon the opening of business. The showing made by the parks in their weekly systement on Sat-of business. The showing made by the banks in their weekly statement on Saturday was not regarded as encouraging, on account of the large increase in loans, but there appeared to be little resultant effect upon the market.

Foreign houses dealt actively in this market, and on both sides of the account. There appeared to be the usual accumulation of buying orders over Sunday among the hundreds of commission brokers. Among the specialties there was a sharp advance in Pullman Palace Car, and People's Gas, after opening weak, rose rapple's Gas, after opening weak, rose rapidly. There were also large dealings in North American at advancing prices.

The opening of the	Ston	- Ma	ribert	this

The opening of the Stock Market th morning was fairly active and strong, but partook more of the uncertainty of laweek than of the buoyancy of the wee after the election. One or two of the specialties were advanced sharply and the general hist work. specialties were advanced sharply as the general list made small gains, but the buying was not heavy as enthusiastic. is difficult to say what effect the opening of Congress and the reading of the Present of Congress and the reading of the Present on the whole the outlook at present of the advance. The public wises to buy stocks, but it seems inclined the wait for a recession. The cliques also have sold out much of their holdings and are waiting for lower prices on which have sold out much of their holdings ar are waiting for lower prices on which get them back. It is not likely that the decline comes it will be a very b one, and it is very nearly certain the the upward movement will be resum again in the near future. Business at financial conditions are nearly all favo-able to a higher range of prices.

It is possible that there may be a tem porary squeeze in call money rates, owin to bear manipulation, and this would as to bear manipulation, and this would aid in causing a temporary break in prices of course; but the best authorities have no lear of permanently high rates. This morning the call loan rate was 4 per cent and this is about what is expected as the normal for some time to come. It is no a rate to discourage speculation, as if gives the brokers a good profit on all the money they borrow to carry customers stocks with at 6 per cent.

Pacific Mail, after being particularly weak on Friday and Saturday of las week, was the strong feature of the mar ket this morning, jumping up three point at the opening and reaching 491.2 i three quotations. The stock is manipu-lated to suit the insiders, and it is one of lated to suit the insiders, and it is one of the least attractive to speculators with any conservatism. It will be advanced sharply at times undoubtedly, and it will also tumble many points at other times. The Subsidy bill has little chance of pass-ing, some of the best informed people as the Capitol say, and it is certain that the company is looking for trouble in getting its valuable contract with the Pennsylvats valuable contract with the Pennsylva-nia Railway Company renewed. These facts, with the poor earnings showing re-cently made by the concern, do not sug-gest that it is a particularly attractive investment at this time.

Sugar was advanced to above 134 at the pening. The Arbuckles today advanced he price of refined sugar five points to 5.50 and the gamblers used this as a bull card. The secret of the next important move in Sugar stock lies in the question if the dividend is to be increased or not. The insiders alone have this secret and anyone who hups or sells the stock is playing against stacked cards.

Southern Pacific was strong this morning. There is some talk of the new on trol in Southern Pacific being more tile etal in its dividend policy that Mr. Hunt ington was. One plan under discussion is has been stated heretofore, is the vision of the $200,000,000 stock into common and preferred, which would make

WINTER RACING PROBLEM

Maryland Jockey Club Venture Causing Much Discussion.

another Big Delegation of Racing Men Visits the Chesapeake Beach Course-Hope of Averting a Turf Conflict-Suggestion That Horses, Not Owners, Be Outlawed Endorsed

A party of about one hundred and fifty horsemen, owners and trainers now racing at Benning, took a trip to Chesapeake Beach yesterday to see the place, and to judge for themselves what the outlook is for winter racing as proposed by the Maryland Jockey Club. The day was an ideal one for this season of the year, and all seemed to be favorably impressed by the surroundings. The general wish of those present was that the Jockey Club would consider the suggestion to permit racing at this point by outlawing the horses and not outlawing the owners and trainers. This seemed to be the coarensus of opinion, and every man seemen to be sincere in his belief that if such an arrangement could be a rived at, it would be a good thing for the Jockey Club, and be a good thing for the Jockey Club, and enable many a poor owner to earn a living through the winter who now finds himself unable to do so. It was argued that there are thousands of horses now running on the big tracks whose class prevents them from finishing inside the money, and that by putting those horses in a class to themselves it would improve racing from every standpoint, and create a market for horses that are now without market value. Nor would the racing be less interesting, the finishes among such horses would be just as close and as botly contested as if they were of the class of Ethelberts, Imp. Commando, or Tommy Atkins. It is true the time would not be so fast, but the interest would be equally as great. It was also argued that the prevalence of large fields in selling races is entirely due to the overplus of this class of horses, owners entering them and waiting for chance to help them win, thinking and hoping that the unexpected may happen. Bad starts are due in most cases to bad horses and large fields, and under such conditions the best horse does not always win, as he may get in behind a lot of bad ones and cannot get through until it is too late.

In examining the stables, some of thein now occupied by horses that lately ran at Atlanta, and are now getting into condition for the opening at Chesapeake, a enable many a poor owner to earn a liv

History and Present Development.

In these days when landmarks of older Washington are fast disappearing, it is refreshing to note one institution that as years go by seems to become stronger and play a more and more important role in the city's artistic development. Such an institution is the Georgetown Orchestra. Founded in 1877, through the efforts of a number of amateurs devoted to the study of the great masters, it was at first only horses at starvation wages. What am I to do? I have the same rights and am entitled to make a living the same as of the great masters, it was at first only a string quartet; then, owing to the large number seeking membership it developed

That is the position in which many to owners and trainers are placed toda and while the Maryland Jockey Club not posing as philanthropists they propose to give such men and jockeys chance to earn a livelihood, and, at it popular demand, concerts were given.

To this enterprise, fostering as it did the spirit of classical nusic at a time when concerts were few and far between, may be traced, in large measure, the present status of Washington as a musical centre. The term "amateur orchestra" is, with good reason, apt to keep away from a concert those music lovers who have once been the infliction of the average volunteer band that assumes the name. The Georgetown Orchestra, composed as it is of the best talent available, both amateur and professional, is amateur in name only, its performances entitling it to rank with the best professional organizations of the country. But its aims have never even mercenary, and all profits are applied toward increasing its efficiency and upbuildiar reasons, although repeatedly urged to drop the prefix "Georgetown," since the growthster has in feet outerwayn its original.

You must be UP AND DOING then there will be no such thing as worriment. Possibly you may not know that there is such a firm as the STAN-DARD TAILORS in existence. Whose fault is it? Palpably your own. Your tailor may be an Old Fogy who doesn't know that the war is over, who cuts your garments in ante-bellum style and charges the fabulous prices that your grandfather paid. This practice must be abandoned, this source of worriment removed, then you'll breathe freer, walk the earth statelier. For the consc of being properly clothed is a powerful promoter of confidence and proper selfesteem. Shall we have your order to-
